Gentlemen: I bought three bottles of your medicine from my druggist. The medicine rendered me very good service, but I am sorry to say that the druggists here are all sold out of your medicine I should have bought six bottles instead of three I will gladly take six bottles of the Nervine and Blood Tonic, and request that you write me, if you are able to read this, for I am rather old to write. I have suffered six years from NERVOUS TROUBLE, caused by a fall, and my whole body remained in a tremble, but no pain. Every doctor I consulted failed to help me, and I was compelled to give up all housework. Then I read your advertisement and bought your medicine, and almost immediately after commencing its use I was a new woman I hope you will write me at once, and tell me how much money I must send, as I am anxious to get to using your medicine again soon. The Minister's Plowing

(Copyright, 1906, by McClure, Phillips & Co.)

Things came about one spring day that Farmer Johnson, living two miles from the village of Lansing, traded a number of hogs and calves and a cow for a yoke of oxen. Farmer Johnson had been a farmer for a good many years, but had never owned a yoke of oxen. He was a good man and a member of a church congregation in the village, and his wife was known far and wide for her gentleness and benevolence.

The robins were tuning up their lyres and making ready to build their nests and go in for the simple life when the farmer yoked up his oxen and hitched them to the plow and started in to break the soil of a five acre lot which was to be planted to potatoes. The oxen turned a furrow twenty rods long and then decided to rest. They were coaxed and argued with, but they were obdurate. Not an hour's work was got out of them that whole day.

The May sun was shining just as brightly and the May robins were singing just as gayly when the farmer and his oxen started in on the second day. Peace on earth and good will to men seemed to prevail all along the line, but a close observer would have noticed that the farmer's jaw was set and that the oxen had a defiant toss of the head. Things developed early. When two furrows had been plowed across the land the oxen suddenly started and ran away, and plow and farmer were dragged along for ten minutes before there was a halt.

When the oxen were brought out after dinner the farmer was armed with a stout club, and the light of Bunker Hill shone in his eyes. Perhaps the bovines had premonition of the coming cyclone, for they jogged along in a sober and industrious way for half an hour before breaking out; then it was another runaway and a halt in a fence corner. They had only stopped to breathe when the farmer was on top of them with his club. He also broke forth into language. He clubbed and he exclaimed; he pounded and he ejaculated; he walloped and he cussed.

One of the travelers along the highway that afternoon was the widow Barnes. She belonged to the same church as the Johnsons. She drove up as the circus was in full swing, and, jumping out of her buggy, she mounted the roadside fence and shrieked out:

"Stop that! Stop that! Samuel Johnson, have you gone crazy?"

"None o' your business!" was shouted back.

"But I'll make it my business. Don't you swear another swear in my presence!"

"By thunder and lightning and jingo and Peter and Paul!"

"And don't you hit them oxen another blow!"

Whack! Whack! Whack!

"I command you to stop! In the name of the law I command you not to strike another blow!"

Farmer Johnson struck a dozen.

"Very well, I know what I shall do. The people around here shall know what sort of a man you are before the sun goes down."

The widow drove to the village and to the minister's, and the story she told made the good man's hair stand up. He couldn't help but feel that it was his duty to go out and investigate, and the widow lent him her horse and buggy for the drive. He arrived at the Johnson farm to find the oxen resting under a tree and the farmer sitting on the fence with a straw in his mouth. The oxen were wondering what further deviltry they could be guilty of.

"I am sorry, Brother Johnson, very sorry"— began the minister as he heaved a long sigh.

"Sister Barnes told you all about it, did she?"

"Everything."

"She said I pounded the oxen with a club?"

"She did, and I can see proofs of it."

"She said I swore?"

"Like a pirate of old, and I can almost smell the fumes of sulphur around here. Brother Johnson, until a man can control his temper he cannot be looked upon as a Christian."

"Parson, did you ever drive oxen?" asked the farmer after a bit.

"I—I cannot say that I ever did, but nothing can convince me that it is necessary to resort to profanity and brutality to move a yoke of gentle eyed oxen along."

"Come along and give it a trial."

The good man hesitated, but the oxen were attached to the plow and headed around, and he advanced and seized the plow handles and gave them the word to go. They went. Their movements for the first five minutes were as gentle as grease running across the kitchen floor; then they stopped, wheeled, turned the yoke and ran over the plowman and dragged him along for ten rods before they could be headed off.

"That's the way they have been acting for a day and a half," observed the farmer.

The minister limped toward the fence.

"And I don't think I'm so much to blame for shouting at them."

The other climbed over into the road and into the widow's buggy.

"I may have used a club rather freely, but under the circumstances"—

The good man said "get up" to the horse and moved off.

Two hours later the widow Barnes appeared at the parsonage to see if Farmer Johnson was to be churched for profanity and cruelty, and the minister advanced and whispered in her ear:

"Drop it! I'd have knocked their horns off the first half day!"

Voodoo Worship.

A writer in Chambers' Journal states that the belief in obi, or, as the followers of this fetichism call themselves, obeah, is as rife among the negroes of the West Indies as ever. Though the negro in the Antilles is removed many generations from the original African, it seems that obeah cannot be eradicated. In former days there was such a constant use of poison by those who were of the obeah that the English government in Jamaica did its best to suppress it, but its practices were not discontinued, only concealed. Obeah is pure fetichism, and the rites are at their revolting climax in Dahomey. In Sierra Leone all the old customs and superstitions, despite English influence, hold the natives fast. Voodoo worship, still existing among the Louisiana natives, is the obeah, only with another name, and even the white man will put faith in an absurd rabbit foot. There is with negro conservatism dread of the man or woman who can work obeah. When the colored race has been left to itself, as in Hayti, voodoo worship flourishes. It is by no means a harmless belief, because the obeah hag is skilled in the making of poisons and lives by the sale of them. If the poison administered to a victim causes death it is not murder, according to the negro, but only the influence of a magical spell.

Timepieces.

The earliest contrivance for keeping time was the hourglass, which, of uncertain antiquity, was still employed at the beginning of the present century and indeed is now in use on some reading desks in the English churches. On the pulpit of the queen's chapel at Windsor there is a twenty minute glass, which time the orator for the Sunday is advised not to exceed. The clepsydra, or water clock of the Romans, was invented by Scipio Nasica 158 B. C., and toothed wheels were introduced into these pieces of mechanism by Ctesibius about 140 B. C. The earliest complete clock of which there is certain record was made by a Saracen mechanic in the thirteenth century. The most celebrated clock in the world is that of the cathedral at Strassburg, which tells not only the hour, but the day of the week, the month, the day of the month and the year. It contains a large number of automatons, figures of angels, saints and animals, which appear at regular intervals, and a crowd always assembles at the hour of noon to witness the procession of automatons at that time.

A Cemetery Serenade.

Sounds of music coming from the cemetery in the middle of the night terrified the inhabitants of the Swiss village of Bregenz, near the Austrian frontier. Two gendarmes hid themselves one night behind a tombstone in order to investigate. They saw a young tradesman climb over the cemetery wall, pull a violin from under his coat and, standing over a newly made grave, begin to play the "Bohemian Girl." They listened to the end and then went up to the man, who said he had been playing over the tomb of his bride, who had died the week before. "It was the piece she liked best," he said to the gendarmes, who led him away.

The Empresses of Russia.

During the eighteenth century no less than four empresses held sway over Russia, and if perhaps the throne was unjustly usurped in more than one instance it can at least be said of all of them that they reigned more wisely than the emperors of that period and that they have left names more famous than those of their male predecessors and successors. With all her many faults Catherine the Great proved a wise and powerful monarch, and much dirt disfigured her history may be forgotten, seeing that she almost totally abolished the custom of subjecting all Russian prisoners to a system of ghastly torture besides rescuing many other cruel and barbarous laws.

Washington's Hand.

George Washington's hand was described as that of a giant. On the last occasion of General Lafayette's visit to this country he remarked to Mr. Curtis when referring to a former visit, "You were holding to a single finger of the good general's remarkable hand—the greatest feat you could perform at that time." Washington was the champion jumper of his day. In one match he covered 21 feet 3 inches, easily beating all competitors.

The Pursuit of Happiness.

"What I want," said the earnest citizen, "is to see a state of affairs which will give every man a chance to work."

"Yes," answered the cheerless person, but that won't give entire satisfaction. What nearly everybody is looking for is a chance to do nothing and make everybody else work."—Washington Star.

HAPPY WOMEN.

Wouldn't any woman be happy,
After years of backache suffering,
Days of misery, nights of unrest,
The distress of urinary troubles,
To find relief and cure?
No reason why any reader
Should suffer in the face of evidence like this:

Mrs. Almira A. Jackson, of East Front St., Traverse City, Mich., says: "For twenty years I was doctoring for kidney and liver trouble, but without benefit. Just before I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I was almost paralyzed. I could hardly stand on my feet because of the numbness and lack of circulation. Had a knife been thrust into my kidneys the pain could not have been more intense. My sleep was disturbed by visions of distorted figures. The kidney secretions were annoyingly irregular, and I was tortured with thirst and always bloated. I used seven boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills. The bloating subsided until I weighed 100 pounds less, could sleep like a child and was relieved of the pain and the irregularity of the kidney action. My circulation is good and I feel better in every way."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mrs. Jackson will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists; price, 50 cents per box.

One would think the Laxative idea in a cough syrup should have been advanced long before it was. It seems the only rational remedy for Coughs and Colds would be to move the bowels and clean the mucous membranes of the throat and lungs at the same time. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar does this. It is the Original Laxative Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough, etc. Tastes good and is harmless.—Sold by R. W. Beck.

The tar that is contained in Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar is harmless. It is not coal tar, but is obtained from the pine trees of our own native forests. Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar is the best remedy for colds because it acts on the bowels—thus expelling all colds from the system. Bee's is the original Laxative Honey and Tar, and is best for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, lung and bronchial effections. Sold by C. A. Light.

Don't frown—look pleasant. If you are suffering from indigestion or sour stomach, take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. Hon. Jake Moore, of Atlanta, Ga., says: "I suffered more than 20 years with indigestion. A friend recommended Kodol. It relieved me in one day and I now enjoy better health than for many years." Kodol digests what you eat, relieves sour stomach, gas on stomach, belching, etc.—Sold by R. W. Beck.

A liquid cold cure for children that is pleasant, harmless and effective is Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar. Superior to all other cough syrups or cold remedies because it acts on the bowels. An ideal remedy for Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough and all curable lung and bronchial effections in child or adult. Pleasant to take. Sold by C. A. Light.

If you are troubled with Piles and can't find a cure, try Witch Hazel Salve, but be sure you get that made by E. C. De Witt & Co., Chicago. It is the Original. If you have used Witch Hazel Salve without being relieved it is probable that you got hold of one of the many worthless counterfeits that are sold on the reputation of the genuine De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve. Sold by R. W. Beck.

The gums and resins obtained from pine trees have long been recognized as highly beneficial in the treatment of backache, kidney and bladder troubles. Pineules is the name of a new medicine, the principle ingredients of which come from the pine forests of our own native land. Sold by C. A. Light.

Mothers everywhere praise One Minute Cough Cure for the sufferings it has relieved and the lives of their little ones it has saved. A certain cure for coughs, croup and whooping cough. Makes breathing easy, cuts out phlegm, and draws out the inflammation. It should be kept on hand for immediate use.—Sold by R. W. Beck.

It is not difficult to relieve blind bleeding, itching or protruding piles with ManZo, the great pile remedy. It is put up in collapsible tubes with nozzle, and may be introduced and applied at the seat of the trouble. Stops pain instantly. Sold by C. A. Light.

Indigestion is much of a habit. Don't get the habit. Take a little Kodol Dyspepsia Cure after eating and you will quit belching, puffing, palpitating and frowning. Kodol Digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet.—Sold by R. W. Beck.

For bloating, belching, indigestion, etc., eat a Ring's Dyspepsia Tablet after meals. Sold by C. A. Light.

The best safeguard against headache, constipation and liver troubles is De Witt's Little Early Risers. Keep a vial of these famous little pills in the house and take a dose at bedtime when you feel that the stomach and bowels need cleansing. They don't gripe.—Sold by R. W. Beck.

Salve! Salve! Spread the Salve, but let it be Pine Salve, natures remedy for cuts, burns, sores, etc. Sold by C. A. Light.

Diphtheria, sore throat croup. Instant relief, permanent cure. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. At any drug tore.

For headache, constipation, etc., Dade's Little Liver Pills are the best. They cleanse and tonic the liver. Sold by C. A. Light.

WEBSTER NOTES.

Mrs. R L. McMahan was shopping in Pittsburg Wednesday.

T. W. Kiser, of Monessen, was in town a part of yesterday afternoon on business

Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor, of the Taylor House, are shopping in Pittsburg today.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Smith left last night for Pittsburg, where they will spend to day shopping.

Mrs. Olena Smith has returned home to Bellevue, after having spent a week here with her son.

The frame work on G. M. Snyder's new house has been started and the work will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

The milk wagon used by U. A. Wall heretofore, broke down Wednesday, necessitating the substitution of a new one.

R. L. McMahan, the grocer, has issued invitations to the ladies of the town to visit his store Saturday, April 14 to witness a demonstration of the merits of the 57 varieties of H. J. Heinz Co., by a representative who will serve samples.

John Vogel, proprietor of the Union Hotel, has let the contract for erecting two new rooms to that popular hostelry to be used as sitting rooms, work to be started as soon as possible. P. M. Pyles, the contractor, will be in charge of the the work. The building is to be otherwise remodeled and made up-to-date in every particular.

LAST OF SERIES.

Uniformed Rank of K. of P's. Will Hold Dance In Kelly's Hall Easter Monday.

The Uniform Rank K. of P.'s will give a dance Monday evening, April 16, in Kelly's hall. This is the last of a series of dances this order has given, all of which have been a success. The fact that this week terminates Lent and that these dances have become popular, justifies the statement that a record breaking crowd will be present.

Many invitations have been issued and the committee have about concluded the elaborate arrangements which are to make this the most brilliant affair of the season as well as the biggest success of the series. Greening's orchestra will furnish the music and to say that this most important feature will be ably rendered is quite unnecessary. Refreshments will also be served. The enthusiasm already exhibited suggests a large attendance and a good time is assurred all present.

Audience Well Pleased.

An intelligent and appreciative audience greeted Rev. M. M Allbeck at the Methodist church last evening while he delivered his masterly lecture on "Woman's Rights" (and wrongs) Although the lecturer was prepared at only a day's notice the speaker was so well posted on his subject and pleasing in his apt illustrations that it was a real treat to listen to him. Those who failed to attend missed a profitable lecture.

MUST PAY THEIR DEBTS.

Failure of Bridgeport Mill Men to Do So Will Be Cause of Discharge.

Mill workmen must pay their debts if they expect to continue at work in the Aetna Standard or Laughlin mills at Bridgeport. In all deparments of both establishments placards have appeared notifying the men that a second attachment on the wages of any employe will be considered sufficient cause for discharge after the time appointed.

This action has been taken on complaint of merchants and others who find it difficult to collect accounts. The matter if properly agitated could possibly be brought to pass in Monessen and would certainly be welcomed by our merchants.

Tennis Season Opens.

The local tennis season opened here today. For several hours this morning lovers of the sport indulged in the game to their hearts' content, notwithstanding the court was not in the best of condition. Monessen will have two courts this year and some interesting match games may be pulled off here.

New Hospital Planned.

A project for a hospital to be supported by the various fraternal and beneficial orders of this vicinity was enthusiastically launched Tuesday afternoon at a meeting held in Mendel's hall on East Ohio Street, Allegheny.

LAST NIGHT'S PLAY.

"The Great Diamond Robbery" Pleased Local Patrons.

Ethel Desmond and Company presented "The Great Diamond Robbery", a society and western melo-drama, last night at the Monessen opera house. The play, judging from the applause that greeted each and every climax, and the hearty laughter heard during the action of the play, certainly gave the impression that the audience was not only receiving full value for their money, but that they were immensely pleased with the production. This company is certainly generous in their plays and specialties. Not only was last nights' attraction an entertaining one, but the specialties were away above the average usually seen here. Last night Miss Ethel Desmond repeated her success she scored the previous night with her songs, and she gave to the character of Mrs. Montrose a dignity and refinment that lifted it above the ordinary social matrons of historic type.

Grace Fortney played Mary Marshall acceptably and Dottie Green made Polly a most lively creature Walter M. Ebel as Julius Montrose was manly and convincing and James A. Sullivan, Henry Marcus handled the villianous end of the play to perfection. L. L. Greene was a decided hit as Peter Grump, the eccentric lawyer, and Estella Lynn played Bridget very well.

Professor Henry Marcus in his illusion, "Gone" was the surprise of the night. This is one of the best tricks ever seen in Monessen and the audience showed their appreciation by continued applause.

Tonight "Why Women Sin" a five months' success in New York, will be given. It is one of the best bills in the repertoire, Miss Desmond having an exceptionally strong emotional part. An entire change of specialties will be made. The universal opinion at the opera house is that this attraction is one of the best of its kind seen in Monessen this season.

Delegates Were Few.

Owing to a misunderstanding as to place or date, there was not that representation at the meeting of the Jr. O. U. A. M. Orphans' Home Association at Monongahela last evening, that was anticipated. Only one member of the by'aws committee from out of town, Mr. Ingland, of Fayette City, was present, and but little business was transacted in that line. The next meeting of the association will be held at Fayette City on the 25th of April.
